QUIC

1. Goal

As the name indicates - Quic is a quick way to create and configure pop-ups on your website to communicate with potential customers and visitors. We had to consider what kind information should be available in a pop-up - it could be video, image, text or custom buttons. All used to either prepare a list of subscribers, email campaigns or just interact with visitors.

Key Challenges

Emails and subscribers

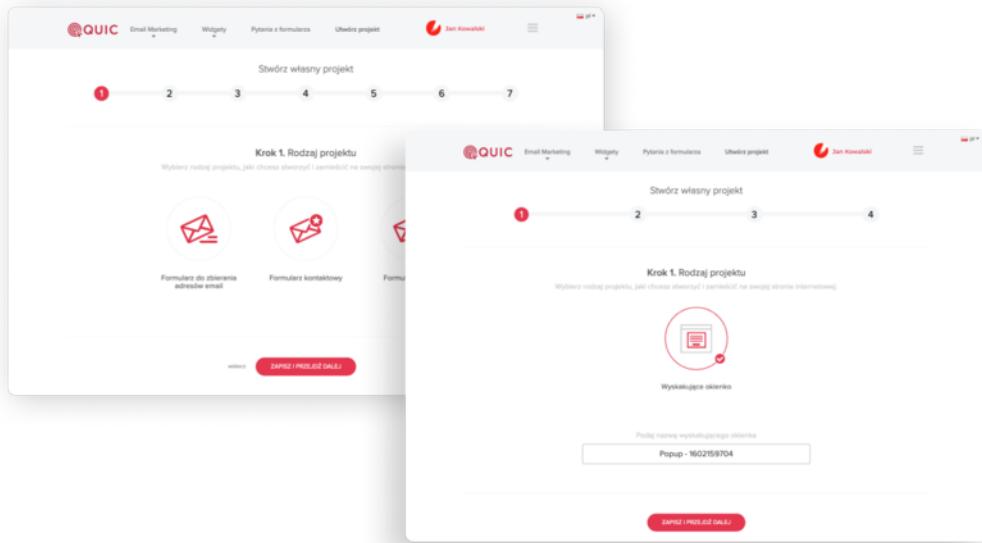

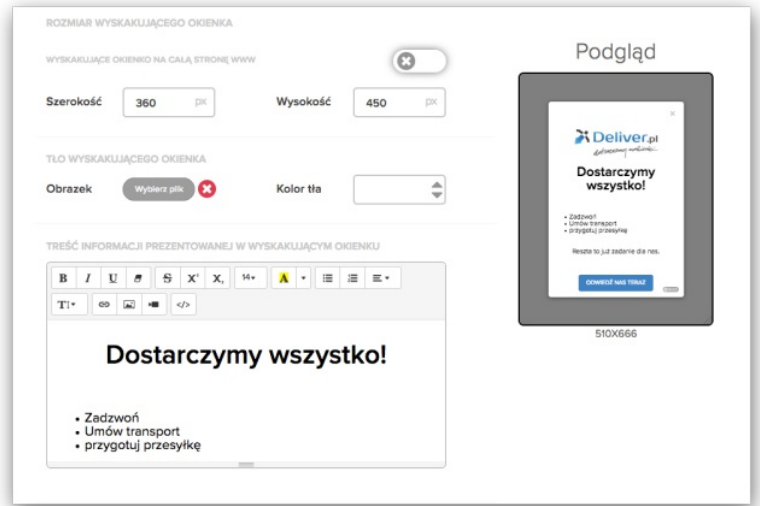

Customizable layout

Increasing security and productivity

2. Solution

To prepare attractive and intuitive tools we implemented jQuery and Ruby on Rails to maike if work seamlessly. Our task was quite simple here, yet the most important part was to maintain good performance of the website used together with a pop-up.

Netkodo is a team of professionals with whom we have the pleasure to cooperate continuously since 2015, carrying out several large projects at once. They are distinguished not only by the high level of competence, but also by the ability to identify customer needs and offer task-tailored technology tailored The reliable approach to each project commissioned, and above all the exceptional timeliness of their implementation deserves special recognition. The experience of Netkodo employees is a guarantee not only of efficient cooperation, but also the implementation of the client's vision supported by consultation and analysis of individual stages of the task. I recommend Netkodo with the greatest pleasure.
